

Media Alert: Red Hat Showcases New Open Source Story at All Things Open

OCT 20, 2015

RALEIGH, N.C.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Red Hat, Inc. (NYSE: RHT), the world's leading provider of open source solutions, today announced a new film from their Open Source Stories series at the All Things Open conference in Raleigh, N.C. Produced by a small team of in-house filmmakers, Red Hat seeks to highlight and support communities and organizations who have embraced the open source way and inspire audiences to explore open possibilities for 21st century innovation.

The short documentary features e-NABLE, a non-profit organization whose global network of volunteers use open source technology and 3-D printing to create prosthetic devices for those in need - with the goal of providing them to underserved populations around the world for free. By producing prosthetic devices the open source way, e-NABLE is changing lives and expanding what is possible when you embrace open source philosophies.

WHAT: Documentary debut: "e-NABLE: Open Technology, Faster Progress"

WHEN: 12:05 p.m. EDT, Oct. 20, 2015

WHERE: All Things Open conference, Raleigh, N.C., and online at redhat.com/opensourcestories

The Open Source Stories film series highlights people using open source in their daily lives and businesses. The series is meant to show human-centered stories that define open source as a specific way of thinking that effects a broad spectrum of our society and culture and is rapidly becoming a leading 21st century innovation model.

Forward-Looking Statements

Certain statements contained in this press release may constitute "forward-looking statements" within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Forward-looking statements provide current expectations of future events based on certain assumptions and include any statement that does not directly relate to any historical or current fact. Actual results may differ materially from those indicated by such forward-looking statements as a result of various important factors, including: risks related to the ability of the Company to compete effectively; the ability to deliver and stimulate demand for new products and technological innovations on a timely basis; delays or reductions in information technology spending; the effects of industry consolidation; the integration of acquisitions and the ability to market successfully acquired technologies and products; uncertainty and adverse results in litigation and related settlements; the inability to adequately protect Company intellectual property and the potential for infringement or breach of license claims of or relating to third party intellectual property; risks related to data and information security vulnerabilities; ineffective management of, and control over, the Company's growth and international operations; fluctuations in exchange rates; and changes in and a dependence on key personnel, as well as other factors contained in our most recent Annual Report on Form 10-K (copies of which may be accessed through the Securities and Exchange Commission's website at <http://www.sec.gov>), including those found therein under the captions "Risk Factors" and "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations". In addition to these factors, actual future performance, outcomes, and results may differ materially because of more general factors including (without limitation) general industry and market conditions and growth rates, economic and political conditions, governmental and public policy changes and the impact of natural disasters such as earthquakes and floods. The forward-looking statements included in this press release represent the Company's views as of the date of this press release and these views could change. However, while the Company may elect to update these forward-looking statements at some point in the future, the Company specifically disclaims any obligation to do so. These forward-looking statements should not be relied upon as representing the Company's views as of any date subsequent to the date of this press release.
